Express Course: Classes of Models in IBM SPSS Modeler

IBM SPSS Modeler is a complete data science platform with classes of models that provide solutions for data types and business questions. This express course covers the classes of models in IBM SPSS Modeler. Predictive, association and clustering models will be reviewed, along with examples of each and practical applications.

This course will cover the following topics:

- Review of classes of models
- Predictive Models with demo
- Clustering Models with demo
- Association Models with demo

Course attendees will receive sample data files and step-by-step exercises that can be completed following the course.